APPLETON, WI – Herrling Clark Law Firm is proud to announce that 10 of its attorneys have been named among the 2021 Wisconsin Super Lawyers. Leading the group is Kevin Lonergan, who for the third consecutive year is rated among the top 10, and John D. Claypool and Robert B. Loomis, who are again ranked among the top 50.

Also named Super Lawyers are: Greg P. Curtis, Richard T. Elrod, Paula A. Hamer, Kelly S. Kelly, Charles D. Koehler, Michael S. Siddall, and Kristen S. Scheuerman, who was also classified as a Rising Star.

“This recognition confirms what we have always believed here at Herrling Clark, which is that we have the best, most capable attorneys available to help people with their legal needs,” said Robert B. Loomis, president of Herrling Clark. “While these 10 attorneys are certainly worthy of being among the 2021 Super Lawyers, we also believe that all of our attorneys provide outstanding legal services, helping clients reach their goals through superior legal work.”

Super Lawyers is a legal ratings service that is part of the media company, Thomson Reuters. The selection process for annual Super Lawyers listings is multi-phased, consisting of peer nomination, independent research and peer evaluation. Attorneys that receive the highest point totals during the selection process are recognized as Super Lawyers.

Herrling Clark regularly has multiple attorneys named among the annual Super Lawyers listing. This marks the 15th year that Claypool has been included, and the 16th year that Loomis has been listed. Lonergan has also been named among the Super Lawyers for more than 15 years, and has been among the top 50 lawyers for eight consecutive years, the last three being in the top 10.
